

CITY MENACED BY OIL PLANT FIRE

4 DEAD, MANY HURT, PROPERTY DAMAGE HEAVY

Oil Tank on West Coast Ignited by Lightning Bolt—Flaming Oil Pours Into Sea Forming Sheet of Fire 450 Feet From Shore.

(By The Associated Press.)
MONTEREY, Calif., Sept. 15.—Fire, started when lightning struck a 5,500-barrel oil tank of the Associated Oil Company, causing a death of four soldiers stationed at the Presidio of Monterey, injuring many others, and damaging hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property early today had spread to another large tank. Flaming oil poured down into the bay, forming a sheet of fire 450-feet from shore.

Only two of the men killed, A. B. Boles and E. F. Peterson, have been identified.

Nearly forty officers and men were treated for minor burns and injuries at the camp hospital.

Three troops of the eleventh cavalry narrowly escaped being caught in a river of burning oil that swept down on the government stores at the base of Presidio hill. The soldiers salvaging food and stores when the oil in the large tank boiled over. The cavalry men were ordered to run and the order had scarcely been transmitted when a flood of flaming oil swept down upon the warehouses.

The fire spread rapidly to surrounding tanks of gasoline owned by the Associated and Standard Oil companies, causing a number of explosions.

SEAT OF FIRST GOVT. OF CALIF. MENACED

(By The Associated Press.)
MONTEREY, Calif., Sept. 15.—Monte, the seat of the first government of California, and inspiration point for noted artists and writers, today was in the path of a devastating $3,000,000 fire, which spread rapidly yesterday when lightning stabbed a 5,500-barrel oil tank.

After a hectic night during which four soldiers from the Monterey presidio were burned to death, the fire spread to other oil tanks and sent more than thirty injured to hospitals suffering from burns. The soldiers were caught in the fire when the first tank caved in from the heat and sent a flame of fire and oil in the path of the fire fighters who were attempting to save army property at the presidio of Monterey.

At 2 a. m. a fourth major explosion sent the fire into a new Monterey, where five homes were destroyed. The local fire fighters today surrendered leadership in the fight against the flames to the military men.

Danger was again in the air when the run off from the fire made a path of flames to the water's edge and threatened wharves and industrial fishing plants.

The fire covers about twenty acres and the principal property destroyed is owned by the government, the Associated Oil Company and the Associated Oil Companies.

FOX HOLLOW IS CENTER OF SUIT TO WIN $2,000

Lessee of Lodge Charged With Timbercutting and Ignoring Injunctions.

Litigation as result of the alleged abuse of a lease of land known as Fox Hollow, has been started in the Corporation Court of Danville by Mrs. Hadlie R. Wilson, who seeks to recover from John E. Hughes, estate and E. E. Perkinson, the sum of $2,000. Judgment for this sum will be asked October 13th, by which time the defendant's counsel will doubtless have filed papers denying the allegations and setting forth their understanding of the lease contract.

Mrs. Wilson claims that several years ago, Messrs. Hughes and Perkinson leased 377 acres of land known as "Fox Hollow" for a period of nine years. The property became known among many in Danville as the scene of social affairs and fox hunts, a sport to which both gentlemen and others who held membership in the Club were addicted.

The plaintiff, however, in her declaration, holds that the lessees specifically promised not to cut down any of the timber during their holding of the lease, but that this has actually been done in that part of the property known as Spring Grove. She says that in addition to 274 feet of ornamental boxwood being cut down and between 1923 and 1923 about 1,230 square yards of land was cleared for utilization as tobacco beds. It is further charged that the symmetrical property has been damaged by the alleged timber cutting.

It is also set forth by Mrs. Wilson in her bill that on October 1st, 1923, she secured from the judge of the corporation court an injunction restraining the lessees from cutting down timber. Again, she says, on February 5th, she secured another injunction from the Chatham Circuit court, this also restraining the defendants from further mutilating the property by felling trees. Both injunctions, she asserts, have been ignored and she is seeking $2,000 damages.

Before the hearing comes up the defendant will file papers setting forth their position and denying the allegations of the plaintiff.

ITALIAN-EGYPTIAN SITUATION SERIOUS

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, Sept. 15.—Negotiations which have long been in progress between Italy and Egypt, regarding the latter's western frontier, have failed and the situation has become critical, according to reports from Egyptian sources in Cairo.

These, as stated to the Morning Post Cairo correspondent, represent Italy as prepared forcibly to seize the Solum and other areas on the ground that they belong to Tripoli, rejecting Egypt's evidence of title thereto.

KEEN ST CHURCH BUYS SITE FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL

Parcel of Land Purchased—New Building Will Cost $25,000

A deed was filed with the clerk of the corporation court, this morning conveying to a committee of Keen Street Baptist church a parcel of land belonging to John W. Stovall in the rear of the church which will be the site of the new Sunday school room. The property acquired while in the rear of the church fronts on Church street for about 55 feet frontage and a depth of 50 feet. It is part of the property which was acquired many years ago when the late Rev. George W. Dame established an Episcopal chapel, the entire property being later acquired by Baptists and becoming known as Keen Street Baptist church. The Keen street church disposed of the parcel having no use for it at that time.

The land is required by the congregation at a cost of $3,500 which is given as the purchase price in the deed of bargain and sale.

Rev. Jesse R. Hite pastor of the church in discussing this morning said that a campaign has been launched to raise $25,000 to build a new Sunday school which will connect with the present church. This sum far exceeds the $12,000 which has been raised. Until the sum needed is secured will be used for Sunday school class rooms and for club rooms. There are six rooms in the building which can be conveniently used, he says. The unusual increase in Sunday school attendance, Rev. Mr. Hite continued, is the prime reason for expanding. Last year the average school attendance was 170, this year it is 317, this necessitating additional quarters.

The Los Angeles club, Oakland's opponent for that day, also will donate its 40 per cent of the gate receipts to Foster.

MILL MORALE RAISED BY ADDRESS FROM PRESIDENT

The joint session of the "House" and "Senate" of the Schofield Industrial Democracy was held at Schofield last Thursday night at which time H. R. Fitzgerald, president of the great textile corporation appeared and had a heart-to-heart talk with the members. Following the annual election of "House" members, it is usual for the mill executive who is a member of the "cabinet" to appear and deliver a message. In years past he has reviewed the work of the last legislative year and suggested legislation for the coming year. Such meetings are, of course, executive as matters close to the interest of the mill corporation and the workers are gone into in an intimate way.

Mr. Fitzgerald is understood to have brought a message of good cheer to the plant governing bodies although no specific promises could be made in view of the still unsettled basic factors in the textile business. The horizon however is believed to be clearing and it is already apparent that as result of Mr. Fitzgerald's address a more optimistic atmosphere surrounds the plants which are already speeding up after months of curtailed employment. It is still too early to foretell definitely what the textile market will do during the ensuing months as practically every child depends upon the price of the cotton crop. If the crop is larger than forecast then the raw material will be cheaper and the textile centers will resume normal schedules and the industry generally will take new life. If the crop is small the cost of cotton doubtless will be high, the market will be slow and small benefit will accrue to the thousands who earn their livelihood in the mills.

The local corporation, however, during the recent months of industrial depression have been quietly though busily engaged in lurching to meet changing conditions. Thousands of automatic box looms of the Derby variety have replaced the shorter type which were installed in the east concrete structure on the river bank. This change is said to have entailed much work as the conduits for electric wiring in the concrete floors were laid out for the smaller type of looms, which have been superseded by the modern machines for the manufacture of a type of good which will actively compete with the products of the New England mills and which are in greater demand than the fabrics which have hitherto brought an enviable reputation to the local products. It is said that the concrete work is now considered the most modern and up-to-date weavers in the South both in the quality of new standard looms as well as their vast number. The transformation was begun months ago and was superintended largely by L. J. Hutchinson, superintendent of the Riverside Division.

In the meantime, the two legislative branches of the Industrial Democracy are preparing for the legislative session of the Industrial Democracy. The various standing committees will meet for a round table discussion of the work which lies ahead at which time a specific legislative programme will be laid out. One of the largest projects under consideration is said to be the establishment of a retirement fund which would provide a pension for those men and women of the local textile industry who have given the best part of their lives in turning out Dan River products. This, however, is not a new matter. It has been under informal discussion for perhaps a year. The legislators are proceeding slowly with its development because in scope it is perhaps the largest project ever attempted by the two branches, and it is no small task to formulate equitable provisions for its operation. All of the employees would, should the project materialize, be required to contribute to this sustaining fund which would naturally grow as the years advanced.

LEGION IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

ARMIES RESUME FIGHTING WITH RENEWED VIGOR

War Outlook in Northern China Is Blacker Than Ever.

(By The Associated Press.)
SHANGHAI, Sept. 15.—The heaviest fighting done so far in the civil warfare between rival Chinese military factions striving for possession of Shanghai, took place yesterday and today along the Shanghai-Nanking railway line west of the city.

Casualties of the Chekiang army defending Shanghai were estimated to-night to have totalled over 400 of which half were killed. The Kiangsu attacking army was said to have lost about the same number. Impartial observers declared the lines of the two armies were virtually unchanged in the fighting, although Chekiang headquarters claimed substantial advances south of the railway.

DISORDER AND UNREST

(By The Associated Press.)
TOKIO, Sept. 15.—Disorder and unrest in the forces of General Chang Tso-Lin, stationed at Mukden, Manchuria, have resulted in a strong protest from the Japanese consul general there, according to reports received here today by the Japanese foreign office.

Press dispatches say that as a result of the situation the Japanese consular police are held in readiness for action at Mukden and that Japanese troops may be called out to preserve order.

FIGHTING MORE INTENSE

(By The Associated Press.)
SHANGHAI, Sept. 15.—Armies of rival military governors fighting for possession of Shanghai, began today renewed fighting in the city.

Fighting was more intense along the line of the Shanghai-Nanking railway near Hwangtu, 15 miles west of here where the defending Chekiang forces were entrenched along the creek bank and succeeded in holding the position during the day.

Severe fighting also was reported at Hing, 100 miles west of Shanghai, a point where the Chekiang forces have been victorious in previous engagements.

BODY OF SLAIN WOMAN IS FOUND ON LAKE SHORE

Had Been Shot Through Head and Body Was Rested on a Newspaper

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 15.—An examination of a woman's body which was found on the shore of Carnegie Lake near St. Joseph's college at Princeton yesterday, revealed that a 22-calibre bullet in the head had killed her. It became known today after Coroner Hubbard was given his report.

The body, which rested on a copy of a Philadelphia newspaper dated August 12, 1924, was found by a college caretaker.

The woman was believed to be between the ages of 30 and 35. The body was clothed in a white dress with blue stripes and black shoes and stockings. A wrist watch of Swiss make was found on the right wrist and a man's gold ring set with three red stones on the third finger of the right hand. The ring was wound with thread on the underside to make it fit.

Examination showed a bullet wound in the back in the head and Coroner Hubbard believes the bullet had entered the left forehead. No gun was found.

Expense Returns Filed by Several Recent Candidates

Scrutiny of the returns made under the primary law of expenses incurred by candidates in the municipal election last June reveal that it cost Harry Wooding, the sum of $109.30 to be reelected mayor, while that of Charles K. Carter who ran so closely on the mayor's heels was $112.81, virtually all of his expense being in advertising and printing.

Candidates under the citizens ticket complied with the primary law and made their returns within the requisite thirty days. Their expenses were nil according to the returns, not all of which are sworn to.

The successful candidates of the Good Government Club did not file returns until September or after the lapse of the time limit set by the primary law. Thus far six members have filed their returns only to find that they are ineligible to be re-elected. Messrs. Townes, Gunn, Boatwright, McFall and Walton had no expense. R. J. Hurd incurred an expense of $4.50 for printing. Mr. Hurd's statement is sworn to as is that of Counsellman Walton.

The return of Harry C. Ficklen, who ran as an independent, incurred an expenditure of $154.97 in his own campaign and also of expenses incurred by him for publications in a campaign prior to a special and alleged election on bond issues held June 19th.

TOWN TOPICS

W. H. Muse and R. E. Rogers have filed suit in the corporation court against the Danville and Western Railway Company in which they seek to recover from the carrier the sum of $892.50 which, they claim, has been owing since 1923 for the sinking of a well for the company near Cascade. The suit will be heard on October 10th, by which time it is expected that the railway company will have sent forth its version of the transaction. The plaintiffs claim that they entered into contract with the railway company to dig the well the amount sought representing the material used in 275 hours of labor in completing it.

POOL MAKES 3RD PAYMENT HINTS MORE GOOD NEWS

Distribution of more than 4,000 checks made out to members of the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Marketing association, was begun early this morning at Producer's Warehouse. This payment is the third one made on the 1923-24 crop and brings the total settlement on that crop up to 75 per cent of the banker's valuation. It is a payment similar in size to that made about 60 days ago and resulted insofar as Danville is concerned, in the elevation of about $200,000 worth of which is being spent here in the laying in of needed supplies.

The number of farmers here this morning to receive their checks was smaller than was expected—far smaller than that seen here two months ago, but this was readily explained by the fact that growers throughout this entire area are now at the crucial point of tobacco growing—cutting the leaf and curing it. Rather than lose a day in preserving the crop by calling for their checks hundreds of growers will leave them here until they call, or have already given instructions to have the checks mailed to them.

From the point of view of the clerical force distributing the checks the crowd on hand this morning was one which could be handled well and few had to wait a long time for their checks. The checks are said to range in sums from $1,000 to the larger growers to much smaller sums.

Those who arrived this morning heard another piece of cheering news. It is reported in quarters which might be considered authentic that within the next 60 days a final settlement will be made for the 1922 crop which will bring the total number of payments up to four. The three pay-

Tells Convention Legion Is Cleaned Up But Lack of Confidence Holds it Back—Changes in Policy Most Important Matter to Come Up.

(By The Associated Press.)
ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 15.—The United States Veterans Bureau "has been cleaned up" but it "cannot take another forward step unless public confidence in our work is preserved by a creation of turmoil and condemnation," declared General Frank T. Hines, director of the bureau at the American Legion Convention today.

General Hines complimented the legion for responding to his appeal for its "whole-hearted co-operation" and lending "ungrudgingly an active and intelligent co-operation of the highest degree of helpfulness."

"I think," he said, "that never before has it been so necessary for us all to form a just and true appreciation of what has lately been accomplished and then to see to it, but every means in our power that the people of the United States have knowledge of the great work that has been done by the service in time of war."

"I find the interest in the veterans bureau, that propaganda of a certain sort is in preparation for use in aid of purposes not at all bona fide, and that the interest in the service men and that publicity campaigns are projected in which let it be intended to drag out the mistakes and errors of the past, before you and I put our shoulders against such a task so to speak as it were, the sins of the fathers upon the children of the third and fourth generations."

"You are and I know very well that there was at one time something amiss in the administration of the veterans bureau—that until lately there was always something considerably wrong with the administration of its soldier relief. The roots of those troubles lay far back in the beginning, when government agencies were hastily organized under the stress of actual warfare, imperfectly thought out, inefficiently manned and administered and illogically and spasmodically developed in times of peace."

Defending his administration, General Hines said: "If it shall be said that there is anything fundamentally wrong with the veterans bureau now such statements shall be untrue. I am not a foolhardy man, and I am sure that the administration of veteran relief is now a perfect thing; it never can be that and never will, but we can say for its truth itself—that an enormous stride has been taken."

All the while hostile statesmen have been thrown open to veterans of any war, military occupations expedition since the beginning of the Spanish-American war without asking whether their ailments were the result of war or brought about by their own misconduct or not, so long as the veteran is in need of hospital treatment and the government has the hospital to treat him."

"The problem of rehabilitation. Up to July 1, 1921, only five thousand men had been rehabilitated. Since then more than 75,000 have been rehabilitated, over sixty thousand of them are now in the course of completing training."

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 15.—Proclaimed by its commander, "proved" the bankers' valuation of the crop, so that the final payment will not be a very large one, though it will, it is believed, the effect of fortifying the morale of the organization, since it will mean a major settlement of the first crop pooled. While nothing definite could be promised regarding this final payment, it is known that officials of the organization are expecting it will be made in a position to make an announcement.

The assembly of farmers here resulted in a general exchange of views as to tobacco now being harvested. The general opinion is widely conflicting. While many farmers are pleased with the showing made by their crops, there are many who fear the crop is not a good one. Estimates of the yield run from 65 and 75 per cent of the year's crop. Many of the growers report that the leaf is slow in curing and is not curing well. Others complain of second growth, but to balance these gloomy reports there are many who are optimistic. A new season, are the more optimistic assertions by growers that they have a fine crop of good color, though rather thin.

About half of the crop in this section has been cut, according to reliable estimates. By the time the Danville market opens on October 1st it is expected that most of the growers will be ready to bring it in and it is anticipated that receipts will be heavy very soon after the season has begun. Both the "pool" and the auction houses begin the season on the same day.

The sum of money being distributed in the Old Felt today through the "co-operative" agency is $2,300,000.

"MURDERERS' ROW" GLAD THEY JUST GOT LIFE

Here is Judge R. Cavell reading the sentence which banishes Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb to life imprisonment for the murder and kidnapping of Robert Frank. No. 1 is Judge Cavell. No. 2 shows Robert E. Crowe state's attorney, and No. 3 shows the judge telling them their fate.

By GEORGE BRITT

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—It is a gay day in Chicago's gloomiest spot—"Murderers' Row" in the county jail. The sunshine and hopefulness still illumine the dusty shadows and drive away the prison atmosphere and formidably de and perspiration from the fourth tier.

And there a dozen waiting men—men who have taken human lives—breathe easier than they have for months.

Nathan F. Leopold Jr. and Richard A. Loeb Jr. and Richard R. Loeb have escaped the "hope." Now even head turns more securely.

"Sore about it," Well, I should say not," says the year-old, gray-haired Bernard Grant who has a "date" with no possibility but the governor's clemency intervening for October 17.

"I figure this ought to mean a better chance for me and all of us," I'm glad.

"I just think they got a 'break' and I didn't," declares Walter Krauser, 21, Grant's partner in the slaying of a policeman two years ago.

"But I don't begrudge it to them," Krauser once took a walk to the death cell but was granted an extension of time just five hours before the trap was to be sprung. The appeal he made during that reprieve still is pending before the state supreme court in Springfield.

Farther down the row of cell there floats a low humming of song from the quarters of Hugh Trivette and Willie Sam, dumpy murderers of a policeman.

"Red" Carilli, who is to be tried for the killing of another policeman, is playing solitaire and winning.

Russell Scott, who pleaded guilty to killing a drug clerk during a robbery, was sentenced to death and then was permitted to withdraw his plea and fight his case release and smiles faintly through the bars.

Almost as Young

State's Attorney Robert D. Crowe, in his plea for death for Leopold and Loeb, predicted that if they escaped, it would be a "long time" before there was another hanging in Cook county.

"Murderers' Row" hasn't overlooked any chances to hope.

Young Grant was 20 when he was sentenced to the gallows and Krauser was 19, a pair only a few months older than the two who have just escaped the noose because of their youth.

"I have had seven dates altogether," Grant tells you listing his delays, reprieves and appeals.

"This hair turned gray between the time a new trial was denied and June 15, last year which was the first date set. It's coming in brown again though like it used to be.

"I don't worry any more and try to keep cheerful. You sort of build up your nerve here, so you feel you can get it over with whenever your date comes no matter how.

Bridge Game Is Off

"All the chance I have got now is the governor's. But after this I think things look better. My mother and sister will go down and talk to him and maybe he'll commute the sentence.

"I thought this would be the way with Leopold and Loeb with all that money, and their wonderful alienists and a great lawyer. And I do not think they'll stay down at Joliet more than seven or eight years with all that money working for them.

"It doesn't look like any human being could commit the crime," they did. Yet they're nice boys.

"Once I was in the bull pen with Leopold, and it looked like if they were given death they might get it Oct. 17 with me. Leopold asked if he could play bridge. I said yes and could play bridge. He said we could play together the last night in the death cell. He just made a joke out of the whole thing.

"All the boys over here are glad they got off."

STOPPED PROSECUTION AFFORDS A MYSTERY

LONDON, Sept. 13.—When Parliament reassembles the Government will be asked to explain the remarkable circumstances of the abandonment of the prosecution against a Communist editor in respect of an article in the "Workers Weekly" entitled "The Army and Industrial Disputes—An Open Letter to the Fighting Forces."

According to the statement made on behalf of the Crown in Court, it was "represented" after the issue of the warrant that the object and intention of the article was not to induce military disobedience but to comment upon the use of troops in industrial disputes.

Parliament will want to know who submitted the representations which induced the Attorney-General to change his opinion of the article in question, and to order the abandonment of the prosecution.

NEW MARY PICKFORD PHOTOPLAY BOOKED HERE

Announcements has been made by the management of the Broadway theatre that Mary Pickford in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" her latest United Artists attraction will be shown in Danville for the first time one week from tomorrow.

Picturizing "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" the most famous of the Charles Mapor novels stands out is one of the cinema events of the year presenting Mary Pickford in her greatest role. Her thoughts have been so much upon the filming of this story, Mary has given her whole heart and soul to the creation of her screen personality.

A most capable cast of players will be seen in support of Miss Pickford. The play is the villainous Lord Malcolme Vernon. Anders Berdard makes an ideal father for Dorothy Vernon and Wilfred Lucas is the Earl of Rutland. Clara Farnum is the beautiful and graceful Elizabeth, the speaking stage brings to the screen a characterization of Queen Elizabeth that is a revelation.

The other players of note include: Bradford Brown, Malcolme Vernon, Clara Farnum, Howland, George E. Stone, Tailor, Mrs. Carr, George, Eric, Mary, Colin, Kennedy, and Irene Sargent.

The production is lavishly equipped having been spared in selecting every machine and medieval castle. Scenes of grandeur and reality are presented with picturesque magnificence.

Under the capable direction of Marshall Neilan, Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall has received interest in the romantic and dramatic of the story. The photographs by Charles Rosher is the most beautiful ever done by this magnificent cameraman.

RICHMOND ROAD DETOUR NOW IN GOOD CONDITION

Excess Mileage Is But 3 1-2
Miles and Emergency
Route Improved

Herbert Henkel and Lee A. Wilson left Danville yesterday evening for Richmond where this morning they were due to meet representatives of the Automobile club of Richmond on a journey over existing routes from that city into North Carolina. The Danville men will seek to convince the Richmond officials also the state highway commission, which is to have a representative on the trip, that the route from Richmond to Danville and thence into North Carolina by way of Greensboro is not only shorter than the route by Clarksville and Durham, N. C., but has also a better surface.

The plans to make the journey today by the Clarksville route, cutting across from Durham, N. C. to Greensboro in order to make the return journey over the Danville route. Mr. Henkel expects to have the party here in time for luncheon tomorrow after which the journey back to Richmond will be resumed.

It so happens at this time that the first two miles of highway to Richmond from Danville is closed to traffic owing to the re-building and widening of the stretch beginning at the Bradley road bridge. It is necessary therefore for all traffic going from Danville towards Richmond to make a detour proceeding along the Chatham road as far as the Oaks, a farm eight miles distant from Danville, where the detour to the right and covering three and a half miles leads back to the Richmond road.

A personnel made on Saturday afternoon through the courtesy of Mr. Henkel over the detour revealed that the work done within the past few days by the state highway forces has greatly improved the condition of the highway. There are however, three or four stretches which have thus far not been too soiled which might prove treacherous going after a protracted ride.

The detour rejoins the Richmond road at a point eight miles beyond the city. Since this detour begins at a point eight miles from the city on the Chatham road to the state highway is just three and a half miles. The detour may be said to be well maintained at the present time and is intelligently made all the way. It is hoped that the Bradley road improvement will be completed within sixty days and that the detour will not be maintained for a longer period. The new surface will be asphalt on a concrete base. Farmers coming to the Danville tobacco market next month will find no difficulty in getting Danville to the suburbs and pointing the way along the detour in unmistakable fashion.

The touring party which is to investigate the two routes into the Carolina will have been further improved by tomorrow, also over the road itself.

Signs Removed by Wholesale Along State Road Sides

C. C. Davis who has charge of the local office of the State Highway Commission, has begun the removal of tin signs and other advertising material which in increasing number are being placed on trees, fences and other supports along the state highways. Hundreds have already been removed along the Chatham road, the improvement being noticeable. Under the new state law, all signs within 25 feet of the road can be torn down by the state and they can be put up beyond that zone only upon the consent of the property owner. The work is to be continued and on other roads advertising material within the 25 foot limits will be taken down.

His Hand Crushed, Vaughan Held By Train 20 Minutes

R. A. Vaughan was painfully injured at 12:30 o'clock Saturday night at the Southern Railway station where he was employed when his hand was caught between the coupling of two cars of the Norfolk train which he was assisting in making up. He was removed to the General hospital where Dr. E. H. Miller, surgeon for the Southern was on hand. It is believed that although nearly all the bones in his hand, were crushed and the member badly spread by the pressure that they will reknit and that he will have the further use of the damaged member. An x-ray photograph quickly revealed the actual damage. Mr. Vaughan, well remembered as an efficient member of the police force showed great fortitude and bore physical anguish for twenty minutes, while trainmen labored to try the coupling apart in order to release his hand.

Trained men who heard his cries instantly recognized that if the engineer moved the train the hand would be lost so the locomotive crew was instantly warned not to move. In the meantime crowsbars and other implements were brought to the scene inserted in the coupling and by human force the cars were separated releasing the hand which was found to be terribly crushed. Mr. Vaughan's physician looked for his recovery. He rested throughout Sunday under an opiate to give him relief from pain.

Confidence By Public Asked By Gen. Hines

address, in which he said the legion's prestige had been doubled by accomplishments in the last year, and an address by General Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans bureau, were among the first sessions activities.

A few hours after the opening of the legion convention the 40 and 8 society the fun organization of the legion and the auxiliary, composed of women related closely to legionnaires were scheduled to start their convention in nearby halls.

Meanwhile, many thousands of veterans who came annually to the convention to meet former comrades, but not delegates, took over the downtown business district, parading behind their bands or retelling of the incidents in the trenches.

Meeting in the municipal auditorium where the five-day convention is being held, delegates today heard addresses of welcome by city and state representatives, greetings from the auxiliary and the 40 and 8 society, several reports of committees and brief addresses by representatives of the G. A. R. and United Confederate Veterans.

Besides Commander Quinn and General Hines, speakers also included James K. McClintock, of the American Red Cross.

Edwin Windill, of Minneapolis, commander of the department of Minnesota, invited the legion to the state and the response on behalf of the national commander was made by James T. Williams, junior of Boston.

General W. B. Haldeman, of Louisville Ky. commander of the United Confederate veterans told the legionnaires "you did your part well as did the comrades whom I represent, in the respective wars in which you were engaged."

"My comrades followed you with heart and mind when I was upon foreign shores," he continued "for the descendants of the soldiers who wore the gray kept step with the descendants of the soldiers who wore the blue to the glory of the Union and to the glory of the flag."

J. A. Earles Buried Saturday Afternoon

(Special to The Bee.)
LEAKSVILLE, N. C., Sept. 15.—Funeral services for J. A. Earles who was crushed to death by a motor bus on Thursday night, were from his home at Spray on Saturday afternoon.

John Cox, driver of the bus, is to be given a hearing tomorrow morning at which time it is expected that he will be exonerated as all who witnessed the fatality are of opinion that the bus driver could not help striking Earles.

Earles was walking along the side of the road and appears to have stepped out of the way of one car into the path of the bus at such a short distance that it could not be stopped. The heavy car knocked him down and passed over his body.

DAVIS INVADES MISSOURI IN BEHALF OF CAMPAIGN

(By The Associated Press)
BUNCETON, Mo., Sept. 15.—John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, arrived here early today from Kansas City to make his first speech in Missouri at a state democratic rally which opens the state campaign.

Mr. Davis was to speak at the farm of Dr. Arthur W. Nelson, democratic candidate for governor, late today. Thousands of Missouri democrats were expected at the rally and barbecue.

Throughout yesterday and today automobiles came to Dr. Nelson's farm carrying democrats. Rain in some sections of the state yesterday had threatened to hold down attendance, but generally fair weather early today gave promise of a great crowd.

Dr. Nelson, the official host, and members of the Democratic state committee, met Mr. Davis and his party at Syracuse when their special train came in from Kansas City. The democratic presidential nominee and his staff were driven five miles in automobiles to Eastwood, the Nelson farm.

Throughout yesterday and last night a force of men had been at work purging for the big picnic and barbecue. Over great ditches thousands of pounds of beef and mutton were being slowly cooked by hot coals. Thousands of loaves of bread were a hand and coffee was being made by the hundreds of gallons.

Hundreds of persons were here long before the Davis party arrived and many had spent the night in camp at the farm.

Mr. Davis spent yesterday resting in Kansas City, a short visit with Senator James A. Reed, Democratic Missouri, being the only event of political importance during the day. Senator Reed, who has been ill since the New York convention, was unable to leave his apartment, but it is located in the same hotel at which Mr. Davis stopped. The Democratic nominee called on the senator during the afternoon and they chatted for half an hour.

The Davis party will remain here until tomorrow afternoon, when it will leave for Des Moines, Iowa, where Mr. Davis will speak Wednesday.

Philip L. Grasty Buried Today

Funeral services for Philip L. Grasty who died early Saturday morning were held this morning at 11 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church of which he was for years a member, by Rev. Joseph Duglison. A representative assemblage of Danville citizens attended the obsequies. After the solemn rite of the Presbyterian church had taken place, the remains were removed to the family square in Green Hill cemetery where the Roman Eagle lodge of Masons conducted their office for the dead.

The list of pall bearers contained the names of R. A. Vaughan, T. G. Williams, D. A. Overby, J. J. Mansfield, Dr. C. W. Pritchett and C. E. Abbott. There were no flower bearers as the deceased before dying had expressed the wish that no floral emblems be sent.

RUTH'S RECORD SAFE FOR ANOTHER YEAR

(By The Associated Press)
FORTH WORTH, Tex., Sept. 15.—Babe Ruth's record of 59 homers in a season is safe today for another year, at least. Clarence, "Big Boy" Kraft of the Fort Worth club, striving to beat Ruth's record, finished the Texas League season yesterday as champion home run hitter of the minor leagues but fell four short of Ruth's mark. He got his 55th home run yesterday.

Julian Fretwell to Live in Richmond

The Richmond Times-Dispatch of yesterday confirmed the report that Julian Fretwell of this city is soon to leave Danville to make his home in Richmond, where the million-dollar company of which he is the head, is to build a concrete factory with 27,000 square feet which will have a capacity for making a million of his patented safety razors each year. Mr. Fretwell's motive in leaving Danville is said to be his desire to be near the new plant. The razor, as outlined some years ago at the time of the inventor's conception, can be locked so as to prevent the blade from being removed. In this way the device becomes suitable for use by lunatics and others in confinement who might otherwise be tempted to inflict injury upon themselves.

Schism Threatens Serious Situation

(By The Associated Press)
EPHRAIM, Armenia, Sept. 15.—As the result of religious differences between Armenian Catholics and Bishop Ashot, a schism has arisen in the Armenian national church which threatens serious proportions. Bishop Ashot has decided to detach himself from the Armenian orthodox church and to form an Armenian branch of the so-called living, or red church for Moscow.

The unknown hours

POETS have praised the wonders of the dawn, Artists have caught the lights and shadows of high noon, a sentimental public has raved of setting suns, but few and far between are the happy people who know the unknown hours between sunrise and breakfast.

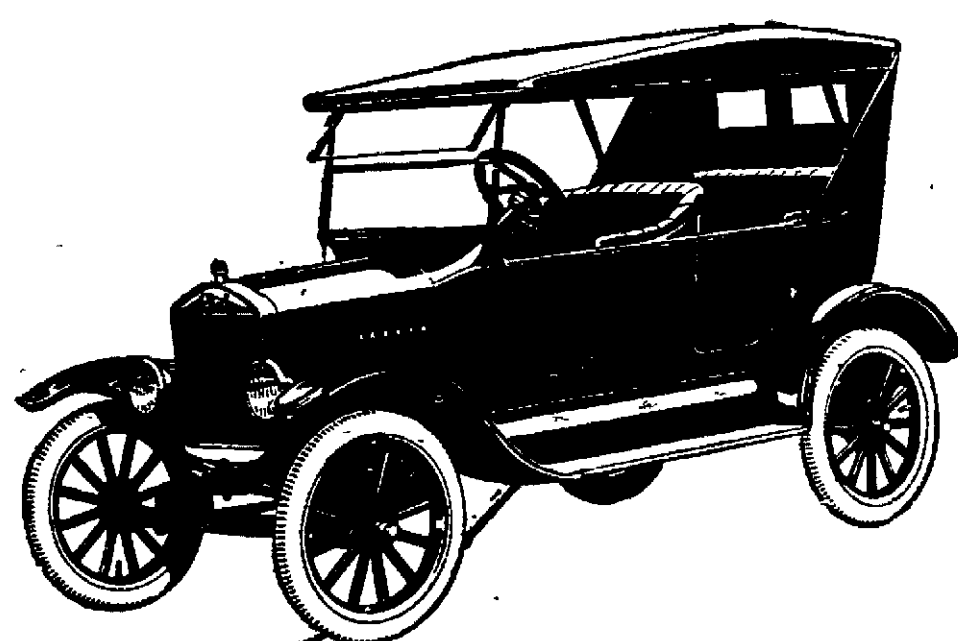

Wonderful hours for the motorist, whether he be bent on business or pleasure. To the one they offer freedom from traffic, a quick trip to the city, an early start in the day's work. To the other, the strange charm of slipping swiftly through villages still sleeping in the pale sunshine. It's fun to watch the waking world stretch and yawn, to note the first wisps of smoke rising from cottage fires, to speed through a land without men.

Explore the unknown hours. Whoever you are you'll find something worthwhile there, health, thrills, beauty, mystery. But don't forget one thing. Better slip around this evening to the nearest "Standard" pump and fill up on gas, oil, air and water. "Standard" is just the gas for starting sleepy motors on chilly mornings.

P. R. HATCHER RECOVERS AND WILL GO HOME SOON

Many friends of Peyton R. Hatcher, who underwent a serious operation at Edmunds hospital about three weeks ago, will doubtless be pleased to know that he has so far recuperated from the operation as to be able to be removed to his home on Mount Vernon avenue early this week as now expected Mr. Hatcher underwent what is believed to be an equally successful operation for the removal of gall stones and his friends are hopeful of a complete restoration of health and his normally buoyant spirits, which have necessarily been somewhat impaired by recent illness. Probably no man in Danville is more universally or justly esteemed in this city than Mr. Hatcher and none has been more uniformly thoughtful and considerate of others.

Touches Peak of Duplex Amplification

By ISRAEL KLEIN
The owner of a reflex receiver, with one or two tubes for dual amplification, will find it a simple matter to add another stage of reflex. And it will well repay him for the trouble. Three-stage reflex is practically the peak of this kind of reception. It is equal to three stages of reception and two of audio amplification, with a crystal as detector. It will tune sharply and has been found especially sensitive, bringing in distant stations up to 1000 miles off, even through local broadcasting.

Following are the parts required:
V. standard variocoupler, with eight taps on primary.
C1, 43-plate variable condenser.
C2, fixed condenser, .005 mfd.
C3, C4, C5, C6, C7, fixed condensers, .002 mfd.
T1, 72, audio frequency transformers.
T2, T3, T4, T5, radio frequency or reflex transformers.
R, 5-ohm rheostat.
P, 400-ohm potentiometer.
D, crystal detector.
Three tube sockets.
Switch and eight switch points.
One open circuit jack.
Binding posts, bus wire, etc., for connections.

Compact Outfit
With extreme care and forethought the entire set can be erected on a base 13 inches long by 7 inches wide with the panel 7 by 13 inches in measurement. The trick lies in arranging the radio frequency transformers directly behind one another in a line leading away from the panel, then placing the three tubes alongside in a similar line and the two audio-frequency transformers in a third line.

If this arrangement is decided upon, it would be a good plan to use

HOOKUP DIAGRAM OF A THREE TUBE REFLEX SET.

what is called a three-gang socket assembly, which consists of three sockets on one base. It conserves space. Otherwise, the sockets should be placed in such a position that the grid and plate terminals face the radio-frequency transformers, which should be to the left of the row of sockets. This will put the A battery terminals to the right, and short leads would be assured to the plate and grid terminals of the radio-frequency transformers.

Since only rheostat is provided to control the filament current, all three tubes should be alike. They may be either WD-11's, 19's or UV-201-A's.

Condenser Control
The 43-plate variable condenser is chosen so that a higher band of wavelengths may be covered. A shunted across the primary of the first radio transformer, to increase signal strength for low wavelengths, but this isn't necessary if broadcasting is all that is sought.

The easiest way to wire this set is to start with the A battery leads, from the rheostat and socket terminals. Next come the grid and plate connections to the radio-frequency transformers, and the remaining leads may overlap these. Reflex receivers require a great deal of patience in their construction. This one calls for even more than ordinary skill and patience. Many nights of testing and switching of dials and other controls will finally bring the operator full reward.

DISASTER FOR ELOPING RICH WINTHROP GIRLS PREDICTED BY SOCIETY

Wealthy Sisters Elope With Chauffeur and Electrician—Revives Question of Whether Man or Woman
Is More Adaptable of Human Species.

BY ROBERT T. SMALL

(Copyright, 1924, By The Bee.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Now that New York society has recovered somewhat from being "akos" over the Prince of Wales and the double elopement of the Winthrop girls from their father's summer villa in Lenox, some of the more sensible members of the so-called smart set are wondering just why everybody should be predicting dire disaster for the eloping couples.

The double wedding has started anew the age-old discussion as to whether a woman or a man is the more adaptable of the human species. Many persons have contended that the woman can far more quickly take the woman's place in an elevated sphere. By the same token they admit that when a woman starts skidding downhill, she goes much faster and much farther than the average man. Still there are those who point to the ability of many a young man to climb higher in society on less than any woman ever has gone.

There is, however, a significant difference. The man usually marries. The woman usually climbs after she has secured a husband of wealth and position. Many a young man with nothing more than a carefully polished manner and one booted shirt has become a social favorite, an indispensable at debutante balls and a dinner partner de luxe. No unmarried female ever would be able to reach such altitudes.

The fact that the two young men who wooed and won the rich Winthrop girls up to this time, is by no means a confession on their part that they cannot take their place in the Lennox and Park Avenue set, and if winter if they are so minded and if papa Winthrop is generous enough to forgive and open up the purse strings, that is the denouement society really is looking forward to and many a maid and matron will be disappointed this season if the social calendar does not include some event at which they may meet the electrician chauffeur and the enamored electrician. Society needs a thrill every now and then and is perfectly willing that the elopers should provide it. Papa Winthrop has not committed himself to any course. He is watchfully waiting. Naturally he is much vexed, but both of his daughters are of an age which is supposed to know its own mind and unless one is a believer in class distinctions, which are not supposed to exist in a democracy like that of the United States, it must be admitted that the girls married a couple of hard working earnest young fellows, so far as good looks and good morals, so far as the available records show.

Society is particularly glad that the young Swains have such nice names. They are names that may be found in the Blue Book, and feel perfectly at right into the name is home. The chauffeur's name is home. Lucien Miles, which is pretty good to begin with, but rather sinks into insignificance when compared to the electrician who is none other than Darwin Miles, Emily and Kate, lost nothing in the matter. A cognominal importance when they be took Messrs. Miles and Morse will not have to join the Lucy Stone League for Keeping One's Own Name After Marriage.

Gossip about the duel elopement also has caused some reflections among social workers as to the relative importance of a chauffeur and an electrician in the social scale. It so happens that any number of society gentlemen have at various times in the past become chauffeurs. It was a task to which they were suited by training at the wheels of their own high powered cars, and also, if one may be permitted to say so, it does not tax the brain to any abnormal degree. Therefore the dilettante social fellow was very apt at driving whereas a mere serious pursuit whereas a man has found him very much might have found him very much bored with the young men of their own set.

The electrician is rather a new element in society and therefore something of an unknown quantity. Still he has immense possibilities. It is but a step from electrician to electrical engineer and once the engineer is attached, social distinction is attained. In any event the Winthrop girls were not inclined to make any nice distinctions as their two lovers, they just huffed off and married them, probably because they were bored with the young men of their own set.

Why they should not have the same chance of happiness as the average young married couples, no one seems to know. Certainly there have been enough unhappy marriages among the social equals of the upper crust. Perhaps this leaving of red blood and honest disposition to toll may be a very good thing for society. Yet America is fast developing a drift to snobbery which may cast its shadows over the futures of the girls who heretofore have had a social position which could not be questioned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Willard Huntington Wright, an author who writes of the latest happenings in New York hasn't been out of his quarters in an uptown hotel in more than a year. He is ill.

Yet, each day he keeps in complete touch with the world that swirls about him. It would seem he would be dependent on numerous friends to supply him with the latest follies of a fickle New York public. But he isn't.

His only human contacts are bell-boys, waiters, chambermaids and an assistant manager of the hotel in which he lives. He refuses to see all others and is consistently emphatic in his refusals to make new friends. He is married but his wife and child live in California.

Wright reads every newspaper and practically every important and recognized publication. In this fashion he refreshes his mind with the world's doings.

Although he has not attended a theatre or concert in many months he is familiar with all current music through a talking machine. He buys and plays all the phonograph records systematically efficient in everything he does.

Wright works many hours a day. Just now he is in the midst of three novels. I am told two of them deal with highly technical subjects and the third, a mystery story, is being sandwiched between them.

Wright was born in California and is described as having a most pleasing personality and enthusiastic outlook despite his year's imprisonment because of his health.

ADVERTISING SELLING A MULE

Mr. A. had a nice mule to sell. Mr. B. came by and offered to sell it for him. Mr. A. agreed. Not only that, but he signed a written contract with Mr. B. to let him sell all the mules he raised for five years. The contract explicitly stated that Mr. A. could not sell one of his mules to anyone else but Mr. B.; that Mr. B. was to sell these mules, when, where, and for what he pleased.

Mr. B. took Mr. A.'s mule and sold it for $50.00, keeping $20 of the price for himself.

Mr. A. was not at all pleased with this transaction, and said Mr. B. should not have any more of his mules to sell. As Mr. A.'s business was raising mules for the market, and they were the only cash crop he had, he naturally wished to realize the best price obtainable.

But when the time came to sell his other mules, Mr. B. showed him the contract. There was no getting out of it. Mr. B. had the right to sell every mule he raised for five years; to sell them for what he pleased, to be dependent on numerous friends to supply him with the latest follies of a fickle New York public. But he isn't.

His only human contacts are bell-boys, waiters, chambermaids and an assistant manager of the hotel in which he lives. He refuses to see all others and is consistently emphatic in his refusals to make new friends. He is married but his wife and child live in California.

Can Hornsby Make It?

HORNSBY WITH DUFFY IN THE BACKGROUND

The highest batting average ever made by a big leaguer over a full season's play is .488. It stands to the credit of Hugh Duffy and was made in 1894. Duffy then was with the Boston Red Sox. The most sensational hit-maker in baseball today is Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals. Hornsby has been hitting far above .400 all year and is striving to equal or pass the immortal Duffy figures.

Ask your dealer Why he sells so many more Remington Game Loads REMINGTON Game Loads are increasing in popularity faster than any other shells in America. Have you tried them?

Hundreds of thousands of sportsmen all over this country are discarding the old style specified loads, and are now shooting Remington Game Loads.

With all due respect to any specified load you are now shooting—give Remington Game Loads a try-out on your next shooting trip.

Go into the store. Tell the dealer what kind of game you are going after—and get the Remington Game Loads specifically made for that kind of game.

They will give you a shooting quality you have never known before. They are scientifically loaded to a uniform standard of velocity, pattern and penetration, all with moderate recoil.

This idea of specific loads for specific game is original with Remington.

All our experience and ballistic knowledge told us how absurd it was to have 3200 different shotgun loads—when there are only a few kinds of game hunted with shotguns.

So we brought out Remington Game Loads—the right load—the best load—for each kind of game.

Remington Game Loads are loaded with the highest quality American-made smokeless powders in Remington Nitro Club Wetproof Shells.

Thousands of seasoned sportsmen will tell you that they are right.

Isn't it about time for a New Shotgun?

While you are at your dealer's, look at the New Improved Model 10 Remington Pump Gun. Handle it. Work the action. Note its smoothness of operation, its remarkable pointing qualities and fast hammer action.

PRESIDENT IS OFF

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Presi-

ed by numerous visits from political leaders and intensive work on govern-

With the president and Mr. Cool-

mer California Governor. The president's Coolidge expected to go over the political situation in California with his guests. Another California visitor at the White House this week,
G. S. Lenoir, of San Francisco, told of some local difficulties but said the national ticket was popular and would carry the state.

Encouraging reports from other sections were presented to Mr. Coolidge today. Fortmaster General New declared prospects for Republican success in Indiana most bright. He known as "Fall Fire Season" detail-work of fire prevention in the 26 co-effective and better coordinated than ever before, according to members of the survey.

In the forestry division of the Survey, it was said by its head J. S.

Mars Test Is an Incident to Science

By ISAREL KLEIN
The world's mysteries gradually are being eliminated from the possibilities of radio. And after all have been tried and tested, this new science will have finally grown out of its swaddling clothes and taken its place with the other standard sciences of the earth.

The recent Mars episode is merely an indication of the initiation stage in which the science of wireless communication has not yet been mapped out. It is being given the widest possible range of study, so nothing outside the knowledge of science may be overlooked.

This is why the effort to listen to Mars should not be looked upon as an absurdity. It was a serious attempt to give two sciences—radio and astronomy—a good chance to show their potentialities. That it failed merely adds another link to the chain that bounds each of them.

Scientists do such "foolish" things almost every day. Ordinarily they are tried in secret. In the laboratory, where only those who understand may learn of them. The Mars experiment had to be undertaken more publicly because of its prodigious proportions.

Success or Failure?
That it seemed to have failed merely settles one mystery so far as radio is concerned.

Yet to many experimenters, the Mars test wasn't a failure, but an additional proof to establish their belief that no human habitation exists on Mars. Astronomically, to these men, the radio test was a success.

With the Mars question practically settled, radio must now show its possibilities in other scientific directions.
In some persons' minds there is the obsession that this science has much to do with the peculiar weather we have had this year.

It's absurd, say others. Yet to the real scientist, nothing unproved is absurd. And so the weather changes and their relation to radio may be the subject of sincere study.

Other Problems
The bowels of the earth furnish another mystery for us to unravel.
Radio is being commandeered to do its part toward fathoming it.

Some progress has already been made in this direction. Instruments have been designed, and are already in use, that actually discover minerals and other substances underground. Their range isn't far, but development of the designs may increase their possibilities until regions heretofore untouched by man may be revealed.

This isn't absurd. It is highly possible.

Radio may help solve its own mysteries, too, and there are many of these. What it is, how it operates, its possibilities and promises, are still to be revealed to us.

We shall know most of these answers only after scientists have established their certainty. It is a better way for ridicule is no help
to a new science.

Everyman's Investments

By GEORGE T. HUGHES

Seventeenth Article
The Classes of Securities Life Insurance Companies Buy

Legal reserve life insurance companies in this country have about $10,000,000,000 invested. It might help the average man a little to know how this enormous sum which necessarily must be invested conservatively is placed.

About 42 per cent. of this money is in stocks and bonds, of which about 11-12 per cent. is in stocks. Evidently these stocks account for about 1-2 or 1 per cent. of the total money invested. That doesn't fit in with the conception of the average man's idea of how the large investor places his money.

Of the investments in stocks and bonds, railroad accounts for the largest total, namely 23 per cent. Government bonds come next with 15 per cent., and 4 per cent. in public utilities makes up the total 42 per cent. in stocks and bonds.

The other important classification is real estate mortgages amounting to about 38 per cent. of the total. This is divided between 17 per cent. in farm mortgages and 21 per cent. in other real estate mortgages.

Evidently then in securities we have about 80 per cent. of the total assets accounted for. The other 20 per cent. is divided between loans on policies and among other assets, such as real estate, cash, etc. Loans to policy holders takes the largest share of that 20 per cent.

Another fact in connection with this enormous investment is the relatively low rate which these securities net. During the comparatively high interest period in 1921, the net return was probably less than 5 per cent., while now it is much less.

A 20 years' average would show a yield of from 4 to 5 per cent. Does the average man who believes that he needs safety in investment, above all things start out with the idea that he can expect 4 or 5 or 6 per cent. on his money? Probably not, yet the experts in charge of the insurance company's investments do, and they are paid to know their business.

NEW YORK COTTON.

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The cotton market opened barely steady today at a decline of 13 points and closed with net losses of 47 points before the end of the first hour under liquidation and overnight selling orders which were supposed to include considerable hedging from the south. Selling was promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables combined with a belief that recent rains might have damaged the grade of open cotton, without reducing the size of the crop.

Reports of a tropical storm in the south appeared to be without any influence on the market. The market was unsettled at the decline of 22.10 for October and 21.80 for December.

MORNING GRAIN LETTER

(Thomson & McKinnon)
CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Wheat market held steady and awaits now incentive for revival of confidence by smaller investors. This may come from renewed foreign demand or from unfavorable crop news from Argentina. Easier cables, an expected increase in visible and a coming estimate of Canadian crop by the Winnipeg Free Press may defer new speculative buying.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Wheat took an upward swing in price early today as a result of active buying based more or less on Liverpool quotations higher than had been looked for. The opening ranged from half to 1-8 higher.

Corn opened at 3-4 cent lower to 1-2 higher. Oats started unchanged to 1-8 higher. Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provisions.

POTATOES.

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Potatoes trading fair, market little weaker on Wisconsin stock, about steady on other stock. LEWIS SANDS, BEAN KING, VANISHES LIKE FATHER

(By The Associated Press)

ALBION, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Lewis E. Sands, wholesale bean dealer and known as the "world's bean king," has vanished like his father did years ago. As a result of his disappearance, his wife, Mrs. Sands, is doing business as Lewis E. Sands Company, Inc., and twenty-eight receiving stations and warehouses in this State and scores of others throughout the country, are idle, in compliance with an order from his attorney. Liabilities of the company are said to exceed assets by $300,000 to $500,000.

Millionaire, philanthropist and churchman, Sands built up his business from small beginnings. When Henry Sands, father of Lewis, left Albion for parts unknown, his wife, two sons and two daughters were left to shift for themselves. The elder Sands had eked out a living by buying small lots of beans from nearby farmers and picking them over in a small barn.

Lewis Sands was 15 years old when his father left and the burden of supporting the family fell upon him. He chose to sort beans as his father an employer. His married Miss Stevens, daughter of an Albion Methodist minister and interested Wall Street capital in his business.

During the world war Sands furnished beans for the allied armies and is said to have made more than a million dollars from these contracts. It is believed by friends that the strain of long devotion to business has affected his health. He was a director of many banks.

The Sands Corporation has done a business of four or five million dollars. Announcement of the closing was made by Sanford T. Church, attorney for Mr. Sands. He said no action had been taken toward bankruptcy, this depending on further examination of the books and a meeting of creditors.

MORNING STOCK LETTER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—A dull stock market at this time is difficult to explain unless we blame it on politics. The political campaign is just beginning to get warm and as usual, a lot of foolishness may be expected. I can hardly imagine, though, a more foolish effort than the trouble and expense to which one of the campaign committees went in getting up a book for distribution to prove that we have got hard times in the country and an industrial depression. Can you imagine anything more senseless than that, anything that is better calculated to hurt business? Fortunately the Reserve Bank publishes some actual facts which may be used for comparison. For illustration, the Reserve Bank at Philadelphia in its latest report says that the first definite increase in employment since March is reported from the factories in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. It is possible that efforts to create trouble may have an unfavorable effect on the stock market for a little while but I think good sense will prevail in the end and stocks bought on weak markets will ultimately prove profitable.

MORNING COTTON LETTER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The foreign market is very weak this morning and cables report prominent operators selling and trade demand poor. The trade demand is the all-important element at this time. The declining tendency of the cotton market can be checked only by mills coming into the market or by a price low enough to attract public investment and until we have one or the other buyers will be met by increased offerings both from those operating in the contract market and from spot holders in the South.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15.—The cotton market opened weak today in sympathy with much lower Liverpool than due. First trades were 33 to 36 points down on near month positions, 24 to 26 down on more distant positions.

Prices continued to ease off until October traded down to 21.35 and December to 21.45 or 40 to 41 points lower compared with Saturday's close. Cables attributed the weakness to English market to heavy selling by London traders. The tropical storm is said to have caused heavy rains in the eastern half of the belt and temperatures were low in the western half.

MORNING SUGAR LETTER.

Thomson & McKinnon

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Refiners are believed to have guaranteed their requirements for some weeks by the huge purchases of raws during the past week. With considerably cooler weather lessening the demand for refined and the beet sugars about to come on the market, Europe will have strictly true purchases on a large scale to hold present levels.
